

JOHN BARLEYCORN JUST FIZZLES OUT LIKE WET CRACKER

Wasn't Even Guest of Honor At His Own Wake—Nothing Spectacular About His End

FEW OLD FRIENDS SHED BEERY TEARS

When Death Came There Wasn't Much Left of the Corpse But a Bad Smell and a Hiccup

The least spectacular event in the career of John Barleycorn in Honolulu was his death last night.

John had made a spectacle of himself on a good many occasions, and generally he was able to stir up a pretty fair commotion without half trying. But when it came to dying, John could not show any class. He didn't go out in a blaze of glory. He just fizzled like a wet fire cracker. He wasn't even the guest of honor at his own wake.

That may sound peculiar, but in the main it's a fact. John was hardly present at the obsequies. The family doctor of his spirit clung about the place where the funeral was being held, but that was about all.

Old John may have been a devil of a fellow while he was alive, but he didn't show to much advantage in his final moments. He just curled up and died, that's all, and there was about as much fuss made over him in his last moments as if he had been a vel low dog with the mange. The old boy was too weak before he breathed his last, even to leave a bad taste in the mouth or cook up a bunch of headaches for this morning for his devotees to remember him by.

A Few Beery Tears

He didn't die entirely forsaken and forgotten. There were some of his friends on hand to shed a beery tear at his passing, but even they couldn't work up any excitement over it. It was a funeral without the baked meats, a wake without the usual concomitants.

In other words, while there were those on hand who would have been glad to send the old boy on his way on a flood of libations, there wasn't anything to libate with, except a little beer that was hard to come at. The mourners started in mourning so early in the game that by the time the final moments came the source of mourning was nearly all gone.

And so, instead of last night being the wild and woolly time that had been predicted, it proved to be nothing but a sordid, sullen evening with nothing to lay the dust but water.

Honolulu was practically "dry" at six o'clock last night, as far as the sale of liquor on this island is concerned. With the exception of Lovejoy & Co., all of the wholesale houses were completely sold out at four o'clock and with the exception of draught beer, every saloon in the city had disposed of its stocks by eight o'clock. No "hardship" was left.

Under these conditions, and with the last minute rush of those who wished to drink a parting farewell to John Barleycorn, there was a reversal of the usual bar room etiquette. Instead of the usual "What will you have?" from the knight of the apron and bung, starter, it was: "What have you got?" from the customer. Those who started the celebration of the day with Scotch whiskey in the morning, were satisfied with Holland gin later in the day. Despite the heavy demand on all of the saloons yesterday, there was very little disturbance.

The Frost Saloon, Ada Saloon and Sunrise Saloon closed their doors at five o'clock last night. Lovejoy & Co. remained open until five thirty o'clock. This firm still has a large quantity of liquor on hand, which will be shipped to San Francisco. More than 100 laborers, employed at Pearl Harbor, attempted to get liquor at this house last night at six o'clock without any success. A train which brings these men yesterday afternoon which delayed them getting into the city at their usual time. Many heated arguments, in which the railroad came in for a generous amount of "cussing" were held on the curb outside of the building.

Winery to Close
According to Dave Lewis, of Lovejoy & Co., the Kaupakula Winery on Maui will close down at the end of this month. The greater part of the output of this winery is sold locally. The Kaupakula Winery produces annually about 70,000 gallons of wine. It is claimed that 100 small vineyardists are affected by these conditions.

The Honolulu Brewery will continue business, but no sales will be made on this island. Shipments will be made to the other islands, which in turn can be re-shipped here.

League Will Continue Work
George Paty, secretary of the Anti Saloon League, stated yesterday that the organization would continue its work here until all of the islands went dry. Rev. John Wadman, executive officer of the league, is now in Washington working for national prohibition for the Territory. This organization, which has been active in the abolishment of the liquor traffic in these islands for a number of years is supported by voluntary contributions from fifty members, at a cost of $7000 a year.

The principal items of expense are the salaries of the executive officer, secretary, stenographer and occasional legal fees.

It is understood that License Inspector Hutton and his assistant, George Chillingworth, will continue in office indefinitely. It is the belief of the liquor commissioners that these two officers, who have done much in unearthing "blind pigs" and tracking "bootleggers" for the past several months, will have considerable work along these lines for some time to come. There were 1157 liquor requisitions issued yesterday. Since April 1, more than 10,000 permits have been issued.

MUST CHANGE LAND LAWS NOW OR WAIT

McClellan Suggests Leaving Homestead Withdrawals Up To The President

Unless legislation on the land question of Hawaii is initiated and reported out at the present session of congress there is little or no likelihood of any such legislation passing for two years. This is the opinion of George McK. McClellan as he has expressed it in a letter which was received by that body yesterday. He said that at the time of his engagement by the chamber of commerce there was considerable discussion here by some of the directors of the chamber as to possible amendments to the land laws of the Territory.

"In the absence of any instructions from your body, I have made no efforts to secure action along that line, and there has been no committee consideration of the subject," he writes. "I have no desire to try to influence the chamber's policy on land questions and it is, of course, easier for me to have the situation drift along with no attempted action. On the other hand I do not wish to avoid responsibility, and I am therefore writing to call your attention to the legislative situation."

May Wait Two Years
Briefly, the situation is that unless land legislation is initiated or undertaken at this session of congress, it will be very difficult to get any action for a period of two years.

The reasons for this are, that this is the "Long Session" of the sixty-fifth congress, affording the most opportunity to get bills reported out with some chance for consideration. "Bills reported out at this session retain their place on the calendar for the short session running from December next to March 3, following; but the short session will be so taken up with appropriation bills and war measures that it will be impossible to introduce a bill in that session, get it reported by a committee, and still have it reached for consideration."

"If the war continues, there will undoubtedly be a special session called in April, 1919; but if it follows the precedent of the special session of 1917, nothing but war legislation will be acted on by it."

Official Suggestion
Giving considerable thought to the subject of expiring leases on cultivated lands in Hawaii, and after looking over the situation here, I have reached the conclusion that the most practicable plan for meeting the situation at the present time would be, not an attempt to amend the land laws by taking away the homesteaders' right of entry, but instead, a simple amendment authorizing the President, during the war, to withdraw from entry lands already cultivated for the production of foodstuffs. Such action could be authorized by the following short paragraph:

"During the period of the war, the President is authorized to withdraw from homestead entry, by executive order, any public lands in the Territory of Hawaii, already cultivated for the production of foodstuffs."

"If a brief bill of this character could be reported out to the calendar, it might be possible to have it incorporated as an amendment to an appropriation bill at this or the following short session."

"Such an amendment would, in effect, probably place action in the hands of the President of the interior, and would make it possible for him to take action, whether he is able to visit Hawaii this summer or not."

Visit Is Unlikely
In the opinion of Mr. McClellan there is little possibility that Secretary Lane will visit Hawaii during the coming summer. In reference to this proposed visit he letter said:

"There has been considerable talk of a visit to Hawaii this year by Secretary Lane," writes Mr. McClellan "but, according to the best information I can get, there is no certainty of his being able to go. Mr. Lane had plans made to visit Alaska last summer, but was obliged to cancel his plans on account of the war, and I believe that the chances are very much against him being able to come to Hawaii this summer."

HAWAII IS IN DEATH REGISTRATION AREA

Hawaii has been admitted to the federal registration area for deaths for 1917, according to a communication from Washington that Dr. J. S. R. Pratt, president of the board of health has received. It is believed that the action in the matter taken by Washington is an outgrowth of work done here by R. C. Langan last winter. He made an investigation of the system being used here in recording vital statistics. The Territory is not yet in the registered area so far as births are concerned, but an effort is being made to have this brought about.

Chamber of Commerce Worried Over New "Permit System"

Message Sent To McClellan To Find Out Whether Or Not Traveling For Pleasure Is Under Washington's Ban

Whether tourist business to the Hawaiian Islands will be affected by the new "permit" system required by the United States treasury department, caused considerable concern at the meeting of the board of directors of the chamber of commerce yesterday afternoon, resulting in a telegram being authorized which was forwarded last night to George McK. McClellan, the chamber's Washington representative, whether traveling for pleasure is under the ban, and whether, to facilitate travel, travelers cannot make applications for permits to any collector of customs and secure the same from the collector in San Francisco.

J. H. Drew, manager of the shipping department of Castle & Cooke, announced at the meeting that in yesterday's mail he had received notification from the Matson office in San Francisco that Washington had informed the collector of customs at San Francisco that there would be no need for state department passports for citizens traveling en route to Hawaii, but that it would be necessary for every person going to Hawaii to have a permit from the treasury department, obtained through the collector of customs before a ticket could be sold by a steamship company.

Must Give Reasons
He said that the instructions were also that the intending traveler would have to give his reason for traveling, and that the collector must satisfy himself as to the character, personality and nationality, after which he was privileged to wire to Washington to obtain the proper authorization to issue such a permit.

Mr. Drew said a copy of these instructions was sent to the Matson office in San Francisco by the collector there. The Matson company attorneys immediately took up the matter with Mr. Sweet of the state department in Washington, calling attention to the fact that Hawaii was a territory of the United States, although non-contiguous, adding that the permit requirement would create considerable inconvenience, and asked if the instructions could not be withdrawn.

A reply was received informing the company that it was a governmental measure and could not be withdrawn; consequently the steamship companies operating from the coast to Honolulu do not now sell tickets unless a permit is produced.

Is Working Smoothly
Mr. Drew said, however, that the requirement was working out smoothly and that the case of a man already booked at the Matson office in San Francisco. He was notified what he had to do. On Saturday morning he personally appeared before the collector and answered questions. His request for a permit was wired to Washington and on Monday was received by the would be traveler, who was enabled to sail the following day for Honolulu.

The questions put were such as: "Are you an American citizen?" "Where were you born?" "Is your wife of American birth?" "For what reason are you traveling to Honolulu?" "What is the nature of the business?" "What house are you connected with?"

The question was asked at the meeting: "What would the government have done if the would be traveler had replied that he was traveling merely for pleasure?"

It was this phase particularly which Tenney Peck and the members of the finance and audit committee were not concerned with, as they are at present engaged in collecting a large fund which was especially to be used for the promotion committee to advertise Hawaii as a tourist resort.

To Wire McClellan
It was felt that direct information should be had and the secretary was instructed to wire Mr. McClellan, who is to secure the views of the government as to whether it is the purpose of the government to discourage travel to Hawaii. This is the telegram which was sent from Washington to the San Francisco collector of customs:

"While the state department has not issued any order requiring passports for citizens or aliens to Honolulu, Samoa or the Philippines, applications by such persons without passports should be made to you and by you wired to the department with your recommendation for action by it. Department will be governed by your recommendation but of course you must be satisfied of character, purpose and nationality of applicant before recommending favorably."

The telegram sent to the Matson company from Washington was as follows: "Orders have not been issued requiring passports for Hawaii. Parties not having passports however desiring to go to Hawaii must obtain permission departing will be allowed. This is necessary precautionary measure at present time. Regret inconvenience. Therefore, after telegram twenty-ninth of this department to San Francisco collector."

NAVY WANTS HELP

Examinations will shortly be held at the Naval Station, Pearl Harbor, for the following positions: Foreman carpenter at $7.04 per diem; Foreman concrete worker at $6.56 per diem; Foreman laborer at $4.40 per diem; Leadingman trackman at $3.68 per diem.

Applications for information should be made to the public works officer, Naval Station, Pearl Harbor. Examination will probably be non-competitive and will consist in the submission of statements of experience and references and testimonials supplemented by such oral examination as the examining board may deem desirable.

SAYS ALL SHOULD BUY LIBERTY BONDS

Lack of Ready Cash No Reason For Not Purchasing—Draw On Savings Account If Necessary

Liberty Bonds should be bought even though a person has not all the money in hand at present, but may be obliged to draw from his or her savings account to complete the necessary amount to make good on a Liberty Bond pledge, is the opinion expressed by Guy H. Buttolph, campaign manager for the Third Liberty Loan in Honolulu.

"As regards the question of Liberty Bonds or War Stamps, it strikes me that there should be no controversy at all," says Mr. Buttolph. "Some of the women who have volunteered and are doing yeoman service canvassing the city of Honolulu for subscriptions for Liberty Bonds have reported that a recent article in the paper had been the excuse for not buying bonds. It does not appear to me to be a controversy; the two things are for two different purposes. There is no question in my mind that for the next three weeks of the drive anybody who can possibly afford a baby bond ought to buy one. The Thrift Stamp is for the odd quarters and for those people who cannot possibly buy a $50 bond, even on the deferred payment plan."

In regard to savings account, there is no question in my mind but what the government wants every person who cannot get the $50 between now and August 3 without taking some of their savings deposit to draw from those deposits the balance necessary to pay for the bond. If it can be bought through economy and careful saving from one's income without touching their savings deposit so much the better."

"I fully believe it is the duty of every man, woman and child, who possibly do it, to subscribe for at least a $50 bond during this drive and I believe that the Hawaiian Islands are going over the top (our quota) with a grand hurrah but it can only be done by every one doing their share, so don't shirk your duty by saying you are buying stamps."

Sixteen thousand handsomely engraved buttons have been received at the headquarters of the Liberty Loan which are to be distributed in Honolulu to those who subscribe to the third issue of bonds. It is announced that the issuing of these buttons does not depend upon the size of the subscription, but are to be awarded to all who purchase one or more bonds. The button has a red border, a blue field and the words "Third Liberty Loan" in white.

K. Yamamoto, the Japanese business man serving upon the Liberty Loan committee, is actively engaged in creating bond purchasing among the Japanese community. On Tuesday afternoon he started out by half past one o'clock, having already appointed thirty sub-committees. That afternoon twenty-five applications were filed with him in his own section.

For this campaign all the Japanese newspapers and the members of the Japanese Chamber of Commerce are aiding. The editors of the newspapers bought the first bonds among their countrymen. The assistance of the Japanese retail merchants has also been enlisted.

Ten thousand circulars have been printed in Japanese and are now in circulation among the Japanese. These explain the Liberty Loan Bonds and the reason why they should be purchased by the Japanese.

BIG ISLAND SUFFERS DAMAGES FROM STORM

Heavy damage has been done in the Kohala district by the big rain storms of Tuesday and Wednesday, according to a dispatch received by the Star-Bulletin. Four bridges are gone in the Nuhi, Halawa and Makapala sections and it is estimated that more than $100,000 amount of damage is done. A county rock crusher was washed away and four mules drowned. It is still raining. In the Kau district also much damage was done.

MISSION CHILDREN TO HOLD A REUNION

The annual meeting of the Hawaiian Mission Children's Society will be held at the residence of Spiller, at 47, at three o'clock, Saturday. The "Family Reunion" will take place promptly at four o'clock, to be followed by "The Children of the Thaddeus," a unique exercise filled with old-time stories, rendered by the young cousins from Punahou.

SAYS HE WAS FIRED FOR PATRIOTIC UTTERANCES

Complaint was lodged yesterday by Capt. H. Gooding Field, selective draft officer by Enriquez, a Filipino, against Luna Charles Spiller, a German, at Oahu plantation, on the ground that Spiller had discharged him because of patriotic utterances. He said he had said in the presence of Spiller that the Filipinos would be glad to fight with the United States against Germany and would help to defeat the Kaiser. He says that Spiller asked him what he meant by that statement and then discharged him. The case has been referred to United States Attorney Huber. Enriquez is a Class I man under the draft registration.

This victory enabled the latter team to climb up a few points and incidentally have a companion in the cellar in Salt Lake.

NORMAN ROSS BREAKS FOUR WORLD RECORDS

CHICAGO, April 11.—(Associated Press.)—Norman Ross, champion long-distance swimmer of the world, and member of the Olympic Club of San Francisco, swam the 100 yard distance in 5:53 2-5, in the national A. A. U. championships here last night, establishing a new record for the distance. He also broke the world's record for the 440, 400 and 330 yards in his trial for the longer distance record, thus establishing four new records in the one event.

INDOOR BASEBALL TO START TONIGHT

Tonight will be the official opening of the indoor baseball season of the boys department at the central Y. M. C. A. The present schedule drawn up between the four teams will extend over a period of the next six weeks and will be one of the spring term attractions for the boys. The teams in this league are made up of the high school, grammar school and employed boys. These teams represent four clubs which meet every Thursday night following a supper together. Last Thursday night fifty-eight boys sat down to supper together and after the program which followed, organized the four teams and elected their captains. The opening games tonight will be played as follows: Harvard vs. Yale and Princeton vs. Cornell.

STUMPF WILL RECEIVE CHANCE WITH PIRATES

CINCINNATI, March 31.—The national commission in a decision handed down today awarded Player William Stumpf to the Oakland Club of the Pacific Coast League, but made a provision that the Oakland Club dispose of his services to the Pittsburgh Club of the National League. The Spokane Club of the Northwestern League claimed the services of Stumpf and also displayed an agreement to sell the player to the Pittsburgh Club. In view of the fact that the player complained that in case he was awarded to Oakland, that he would not be allowed to advance in his profession, the commission appended the clause whereby Oakland will be compelled to sell him to Pittsburgh for the same terms that the Spokane Club's agreement with Pittsburgh called for.

BAILEY TO PUT UP FARM AT LOUISVILLE

LOUISVILLE, Kentucky, March 30.—Special telegrams from Lexington today announced that Joseph W. Bailey, former United States senator from Texas, will re-establish a breeding farm there for the development of thoroughbred trotting horses. Mr. Bailey sold his plant near Lexington several months ago and announced that he would retire from the business because of the pressure of other affairs. As a producer of 2:10 performers he stands sixth in the list.

JOE STECHER ILL; HE CANCELS SAVAGE BOUT

OMAHA, Nebraska, March 30.—Joe Stecher, former wrestling champion, is reported ill at his home in Dodge, Nebraska, and his match with Steve Savage, "the Slav champion," arranged for Monday, April 15, at Sioux City, has been cancelled. Stecher is said to be suffering from pneumonia and is in a critical condition.

PORTERVILLE, California, March 26.—McCredie's ax fell this morning and three aspirants for the catching staff of the Bee heard the sad words, the first of the season. Those to go are Hinkle, Salt Lake; Squires, Brigham City, Utah, and Gomez, Los Angeles, California. This means that Dunn and Konick will be the first string men behind the rubber for the Bees at least for the opening of the season.

Will Compete In One-Hundred-Yard Champion-ship

Duke P. Kahanamoku is leaving on the next boat for the mainland to compete in the 100-yard national championship at Neptune Beach which is to be held on Sunday, April 28.

This event is attracting wide attention throughout the country. A classy field of swimmers are entered and it will be a grueling race when they face the starter. Unless Duke takes a option to break his present record of 53 feet made in Honolulu, there is little danger of it being lowered.

Perry McGillivray of the Illinois Athletic Club is a favorite on the mainland and is expected to give Duke the battle of his life. McGillivray is no stranger to Hawaii, having participated at the naval slip a few years back.

It is to be regretted that Clarence Lane, second only to the champion in the sprints; A. V. Kaebu, who has been cutting quite a splash in local swimming circles; Stubby Kruger, holder of a world's record in a backstroke event, and John Keli who makes nothing of going in half a dozen races on the same day, are not to accompany Duke.

NEW YORK CHINESE HAVE SOCCER TEAM

Have Made Application To Join Football Association of Empire State

NEW YORK.—Much interest is being taken here in the new Chinese Students Soccer Club of New York which plans to put a soccer football team in the field this spring and has applied to the Southern New York Football Association for affiliation and through it with the United States Football Association.

K. L. Kwong, captain of the Columbia University Chinese crew, and Ernest Kau, who captained the Hang Kow University soccer football team before coming to the United States, are the leaders in organizing the club. Twenty-four players are members of the club, two of them being New York University students, four from the General Theological Seminary, five from Manhattan high schools and the other together and after the program which followed, organized the four teams and elected their captains.

The list of players of the Chinese soccer organization, as given out from the office of T. W. Cahill, United States Football Association secretary, follows: E. E. Kau, K. L. Kwong, S. T. Shee, T. S. C. Hu, E. T. H. Tsun, Y. S. Lee, L. H. Yip, B. L. Chou, Z. L. Chang, T. S. Lee, S. P. Wu, H. Wang, H. C. Chen, S. C. Wang, S. K. Pan, Poy Lee and C. Y. Chang. Yip and Kwong are members of the Columbia wrestling team. Y. S. Lee was Y. M. C. A. 115-pound wrestling champion last year.

"Many of our members are finished soccer players, and we expect to arrange matches once our affiliation is granted, with some of the strongest teams in the metropolitan district," says Kwong, acting secretary of the organization.

"The club is strictly non-professional. If it can be arranged without endangering amateur standing under American Athletic Union rules, the team will accept matches in other cities during the summer months. Our object, second only to our interest in the sport, is to prove the versatility of the Chinese athlete. In China soccer is what baseball is to this country, what cricket is to England, and what wrestling is to Japan. Soccer will surely become the national winter game of the United States. In China it is played during a season of nine months."

CLIFF LEE CASE NOW DECIDED FOR BEAVERS

CINCINNATI, March 28.—The National Baseball Commission today awarded the services of player Cliff Lee, to the Portland, Oregon, team of the Pacific Coast League. The case was brought up by the Cleveland American League team, but Cleveland admitted it would probably turn Lee back to the minors if the claim was allowed and in a statement to the commission admitted that the Portland club had probably established "the strongest moral right to the player."

"JUD" HOUSE ORDERED TO GO TO CAMP LEWIS

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, March 26.—"Jud" House, crack hurdler and sprinter, has received orders to leave for Camp Lewis on Friday. The loss of House will be hard on Stanford's hopes of victory in the forthcoming meet with the University of California, as he was counted on for a total of at least eighteen points.

GOLF AUTHORITY DEAD
NEW YORK, March 29.—Samuel A. Cunningham, president of the Bankers' Life Deposit Company of New York, and widely known as an authority on golf course is dead here. He was born in Indiana fifty-eight years ago and was related to the family of Abraham Lincoln.

LABORER MANGLED BY TRAIN WHEELS

Loses Both Legs and Right Arm When He Slips and Falls; Condition Is Serious

While trying to board a moving train of the Oahu Railway Co. last night at six o'clock at Kipapa Gulch, Lim Tuck, a Korean laborer at the Kipapa quarry, was ground under the wheels of the train and lost both legs and his right arm.

The Honolulu bound Wahiawa train stopped at Kipapa Gulch to take on a number of laborers, who had been working in the quarry in that neighborhood. Shortly after the train started, Lim Tuck tried to board the train, slipped, and fell under the wheels.

Private Connors, Company F, Twenty-fifth Infantry, who was sitting in the last car of the train, felt the wheels of the car give an unusual jolt as it passed over the Korean and upon looking out of the rear door of the car, saw Lim Tuck lying on the track. Connors promptly pulled the bell cord, brought the train to a stop and with the assistance of Captain Palmer, First Infantry, first aid was given the man and he was brought to Honolulu on the train. Lim Tuck is now in the Queen's hospital, where his condition is considered serious.
